I wish to object to the planning application on the grounds of Highway safety, an increase in traffic and noise pollution and the impact it will have on the landscape. The proposed location will create an increase in large grain Lorries passing through Foxton along the High street which is very narrow with cars often parked outside the shop/Post Office and church. These Lorries will increase both traffic and noise pollution in the village, particularly if they are manoeuvring past parked cars and pedestrians. Not only will they be dangerous and increase the risk of road accidents, there is a narrow bend at the former vicarage which is a blind corner and these Lorries will add to the danger of accidents. Foxton Primary School is also off the High Street and an increase of Lorries passing through Foxton will add to the danger of an accident involving a school child. The proposed grain store building will be in a flat open area of farmland it will be an unnecessary blot on the landscape and again the noise produced will travel a great distance as there is nothing to block or muffle it. I find it difficult to understand why the grain store is being relocated so far from the original site where it currently stands in Thriplow close to the A505, if it were to stay local to Thriplow it could the existing transportation links rather than running through a small village, that has unsuitable roads for the amount of traffic required.
